

Bolder Bid For Subsidies For Civil Aviation To Be Doubled

Administration of Imperial and British Airways to Be Reorganized

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, March 9.—Great Britain is to make a bolder bid for international air travel.

Concurrently with the upbuilding of the Royal Air Force, the government announced last night it will give increased stimulus to civil aviation. Measures are to be taken within the air ministry to strengthen legislation dealing with civil aviation.

State subsidies for air transport companies now fixed at a maximum of £100,000 ($700,000) are to be increased. Extensive routes are to be allocated from both companies. The administration of both companies is to be reorganized.

REPORT RELEASED

The government's decision is based on a report of a special committee of inquiry into civil aviation of which Lord Godman was chairman. The committee's report was received last night by the government's action on it.

The report is recommending the enlarged subsidy said it is designed to expand commercial air travel to the level of the United States and Canada.

The committee lays down the principle, and the government agrees that "the principle of air transport is to be a single entity, that the military and civil aviation fundamentally cannot be separated from each other."

EMBARKED FOR AIR

In reorganization of the air ministry a permanent undersecretary for air is to be appointed to exercise the general administrative direction of civil aviation. He will be charged with the duty of full and constant coordination of policy of civil and military aviation.

Lord Godman's committee recommends the highest control of the Department of Civil Aviation must be strengthened, that there must be more vigor in executive policy and more foresight in planning.

The government has decided to add a deputy director-general of civil aviation with a director of civil research production, selected from the technical and scientific qualifications. The director of civil research will be responsible for ensuring that the civil aspects of research, development and production are given full consideration.

THREE PRINCIPLES

In increasing subsidies to air transport companies from £100,000 to £300,000 the government will be guided by three principles:

- 1.—The limits within which expenditure can be incurred must be carefully watched.
- 2.—A decision between competing projects should be governed by the importance of maintaining and developing empire routes, second, the importance of selecting routes which afford an opportunity of essential traffic and third, the importance of commercial interests are concerned.

3.—In dealing ways of encouragement to the development and expansion of civil aircraft the government will seek the co-operation of air operating companies and will act in close consultation with the airlines. Bruce-Carter, independent chairman of the Society of British Aircraft Constructors.

Under a new arrangement, Imperial Airways will be primarily concerned with the development of empire services but the company's right to be associated with short haul services to France and Italy, and flying boat services to Greece via Italy, is recognized.

OTTAWA, March 9.—Beethoven's "Elegie" was played for the funeral of the distinguished chief of the mounted police, Sir James, who died last night, resting place, today held the body of Major General Sir Arthur Currie five years ago.

Committed to the grave with the full military honors befitting his rank, Sir James, whose death occurred last Saturday in Toronto, was buried in the cemetery.

The funeral which witnessed the largest parade of soldiers and services men since that of the late Sir Arthur Currie five years ago in Montreal was attended by the highest nobles of the state.

The Government-General was represented by Colonel H. Willis O'Connor.

In the procession were Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, and other ministers.

Mr. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, during whose regime the late Sir James was appointed commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and several members of his cabinet were present.

Present in full strength were the diplomatic corps, high ranking officers of the defence forces, the Royal Mounted, representatives of the country's public life. And in the numbers were the members of the Great War, their presence attesting the respect and affection which they held for the general.

HAT AND SWORD
The service was in Christ Church cathedral, with Sir James in full uniform, the officiating priest. In the nave lay the coffin, flag-draped and surmounted by a mounted trooper, sword which Sir James had worn as chief of the general staff.

The eulogies were fitting, for overheard in the choir, hand of the eulogies was a mounted trooper, sword which Sir James had worn as chief of the general staff.

Finance Minister Sees Wild Inflation In Assailing Policy

H. Douglas, the "high priest of Social Credit," was more than temperate of confused thought or of self. The assumed that the "Major Domesday" was presented with a concrete problem he evaded it. "There is no question," he said, "of a concrete proposal in the speeches of Social Credit which is in a house."

The minister went on to say that "A Social Credit policy," Major Douglas said to the system of the "Social Credit" policy, the national dividend, the doctrine, were not an incorrect diagnosis of the price of every commodity there were two factors which would tend to the producer in wages, salaries and dividends and which are not. Consequently the producers of goods did not receive enough purchasing power in exchange for them to enable them to buy an equal quantity of goods.

INCORRECT DIAGNOSIS
"Social Credit," he declared, "is on an incorrect diagnosis of an existing malady and prescribes a remedy which would be dangerous to the extreme."

In the positive degree, the Social Credit program, the national dividend, the doctrine, were not an incorrect diagnosis of the price of every commodity there were two factors which would tend to the producer in wages, salaries and dividends and which are not.

But the Social Crediters proposed to check inflation by the control of prices. This was bound to lead to complete control and rationing of the economy and totalitarian state. Only this result could follow from the degree of control that would be required in an attempt to mitigate the effects of excessive demand of inflation.

Mr. Dunning also commented on the proposal of Social Crediters to be in new money by A. Tucker, Lib. Roswell, who said that $500,000,000 in new money by the Bank of Canada to finance public works and irrigation.

DANGEROUS INFLATION
This, too, would be the most dangerous kind of inflation, he said. Inflation might strike some as an easy way for governments to get something for nothing, said he, but it would be a disaster to the people. While no tax system could be absolutely fair, inflation was the most unjust form of taxation ever devised.

It hit not the rich, but those in the lower and middle classes, those receiving fixed incomes in pensions, annuities, and interest from bonds and life insurance, those whose capital was in bank deposits, and those who received real estate, common stocks, commodities and other investments. It benefited particularly the lucky few who owned land.

Mr. Dunning said currency in circulation was $1,000,000,000, and that the Bank of Canada had $1,000,000,000 in gold reserves. He said that the Bank of Canada had $1,000,000,000 in gold reserves.

TO GUN CARRIAGE
Preceded by the honorary palanquin, the gun carriage was taken down the steps of the cathedral to the main entrance to the cathedral, then swung north to the main entrance to the cathedral, then swung north to the main entrance to the cathedral.

Amendment For Trade, Industry Bill Is Debated

Section Regarding Statistical Details Of Agriculture, Farming or Commercial
Activities Held Over by Legislature

Persons asked by the trade and industry department for information regarding their business activities must supply it or be subject to penalties unless they can prove that it is impossible for them to furnish the required figures. This amendment to the Trade and Industry bill was held over after lengthy debate in the legislature Tuesday.

Who's Who

Text of the section reads as follows:
"In any prosecution for an offence under this section the onus of proof that the person accused had not or was unable to procure any information demanded by the minister shall be upon the person accused."

The section referred to provides that the minister and any officer designated by the trade and industry department may obtain statistical information with regard to any agricultural, industrial or commercial activities.

Every person who makes default in complying with any demand in writing for information shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each day after 30 days during which the default continues, the act being a continuing one.

Placing the onus upon the performer of the offence was demanded, requiring him to show that he could not produce the information, was a violation of the first principle of British justice—innocent until proven guilty.

His Church and People Mourn

Above is the body of Most Rev. H. J. O'Leary, D.D., D.C.L., Ph.D., L.D., B.A., Archbishop of the Edmonton Diocese, as he lay in state Wednesday at the Episcopal residence, 1044 113 street. The Archbishop is dressed in all the insignia of his exalted office, including the mitre, the pallium, which is worn only by archbishops, and purple vestments.

VIGIL HELD AS BISHOP'S BODY LIES IN STATE

With priests attending an all-night vigil at the Episcopal residence where the body of Most Rev. Henry Joseph O'Leary, Archbishop of Edmonton, is lying in state, arrangements are now proceeding for the funeral Friday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Joseph's cathedral.

Archbishop O'Leary died of heart failure in Victoria, B.C., last Saturday. His body was brought to the city Monday night. It will lie in state in the Episcopal residence until 10 a.m. Thursday when it will be removed to St. Joseph's cathedral, where the coffin will remain on a catafalque until the time of the funeral.

Many church dignitaries in Western Canada will attend the funeral. They will include Archbishop of Winnipeg, Archbishop of Regina, Archbishop of St. John's, Archbishop of Vancouver, Bishop Carroll, Calgary, and Bishop Nugent, Pembroke.

Classes in all Catholic schools in the city will be suspended Thursday morning to give students in Grades 5 to 12 an opportunity of attending the funeral. Mass will be held in the cathedral at 11 a.m. Thursday. About 1,200 children will be dismissed from classes.

SCHOOLS CLOSE
On Friday morning, day of the funeral, all Catholic schools will remain closed.

Laymen will join priests Wednesday night in maintaining an all-night vigil while the body of the archbishop lies in state.

TRIO MORRISH MOTIONS MEET LITTLE FAVOR

Three motions brought in by Morrish, Cleveley and Dominion at the regular meeting of the Edmonton Public School board, Tuesday evening, met with little approval of members, when the first referring to a report on the amount and character of the homework assigned to students of the intermediate schools was tabled pending a report on a homestead survey made last fall.

The second dealing with the discontinuance of the existing position of supervisor of pupils was lost, with a vote of six to one, and the third asking that all teachers, including principals and others in supervisory capacities, employed by the board, be allotted their respective salaries at large and not to any particular individual school, was withdrawn.

During discussion of the homework motion, it was stated by Supt. McKee that if the homework were discontinued, the principal should interview the parent who complained of it. Trustee P. Armour Ford was not sure that a survey was needed at all and said that despite the fact that Dr. Morrish had pointed out all kinds of complaints about the homework situation was entirely satisfied with the present state of affairs.

C. G. Elliott, principal of Oliver school, explained that there was an order directing the issue of a mandamus commanding the Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, to perform the duties imposed on him by the Income Tax act, will be sought in supreme court chambers on March 14 next by the Hon. Solon Low.

ADVOCATES AGE FOR PENSIONS

Lowering Of Qualifying
Limit Just Extension
Liberal Principles

Lowering the qualifying age for old age pensions is simply a "breathening and extension of the Liberal party's principles" and not a departure from them, Bob Marshall, Liberal candidate in the East Edmonton by-election, told an audience of 300 in the Alberta Avenue community hall Tuesday night.

The Liberal government had introduced the old age pension legislation, Mr. Marshall added. All that was advocated was a reduction of the age at which citizens could qualify for this benefit.

Quoting from a statement of policy by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Mr. Marshall added, "The Liberal party has the greatest democracy in Canada." Bob Marshall showed that the national leader of the Liberal party was not a departure from the true tradition of the Liberal party, which is to stand for the improvement of the conditions of the people.

Mr. Marshall said that the Liberal party was not a departure from the true tradition of the Liberal party, which is to stand for the improvement of the conditions of the people.

Mighty Weapon
Dawn Of Reason
Old Guard Routed

It will take some time for Canadian hockey to thoroughly assimilate the announcement by Cecil Duncan, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, that the league is now clear for its body to sponsor and control professional hockey leagues as well as amateur circuits and teams.

The possibilities in this new power made available by the international body of hockey control—La Ligue Internationale de Hockey Sur Glace—are tremendous. Night off the bat it seems to be a weapon that may discourage the high-bait attitude that the National Hockey League has taken toward the C. A. H. A. from time to time.

As Duncan suggests, it would be quite easy for Canada to set up pro hockey leagues in western and eastern Canada—much easier than it would be for any other organization. The reason lies in the fact that strong senior amateur opposition could be controlled or eliminated and that all the necessary machinery for control and operation is already in existence.

With pro leagues in the east and west outside of their direct jurisdiction, the N. H. L. moguls would be forced in self-protection to negotiate working agreements with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. Under these circumstances, the C. A. H. A. would be in a position to curb to a worthwhile extent the rife of N. H. L. clubs on amateur teams being groomed for serious title bids.

It's the Dawn Of Reason At Last

FOR decades it has seemed that a sane and reasonable attitude toward the free mingling of pro and amateur would never dawn in Canada, but it is here at last, thanks to the international body of hockey control and the spirited fight conducted by the present leaders of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

I wonder what the stubborn old guard of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada have to say now. Free and amateurs appear to be able, under the new rulings, to mingle quite freely in hockey without contaminating each other. What is more, Canada is eligible for competition in these holy Olympic games despite this free and easy mingling. That is something the A. U. stewards swore and cry and even say impossible. It seems that the old guard has been routed finally and is in full flight to its arm chairs.

The problem now before the C. A. H. A. appears to be the intricate one of drawing a line of demarcation between pro and amateurs. That may sound like an old problem, but it takes on new angles with the possibility of the C. A. H. A. sponsoring pro leagues. In divisions up to seniors, the problem will not be hard, but to differentiate between senior amateurs and pros will be a tricky piece of work.

It strikes me that the simplest solution is to define a pro as a player who receives his guaranteed pay check direct from the club for which he plays. Amateurs would be those making the best sort of indirect deal that they could.

Gun Club Dines Tonight

TONIGHT at the Corona, Edmonton devotees of the gun meet at the annual banquet of the Edmonton Gun Club and it promises to be one of those nights that the boys will remember for awhile. Shooting will never draw big galleries of cheering fans or require the fanfare of trumpets and thumping of drums that other sports do, but it still remains one of Alberta's major sports for a lot of its members. Devotees are concerned. The feel of gun stock is something that will always hold a fascination for you once it has gotten into your blood. You may go years without firing a shot, but the itch is still dormant in you.

MacSporran Dropping Weight

DILLING under heavy wooden walls, Eddie MacSporran chalked up a decrease in poundage last night as he worked at the Osborne Gym to get down to 155 pounds for his fight with Jimmy Donnelly, 17, of Sioux City, Iowa. With a good rest under his belt after his last fight here with Tiger Lewis, MacSporran figures he will enter the ring next week in perfect condition and full of fight.

It is a big fight for him. Donnelly comes with a record of 79 knockouts in 144 pro fights—a tough assignment for any fighter. If MacSporran can win, he will be given a fight here with Gordon Wallace, a Vancouver ace.

WREXFORD-BROWN TO AGAIN HEAD FOOTBALL TEAM

LONDON, March 9.—C. W. Wrexford-Brown, well-known soccer official and M. H. Hughes, secretary of the Cheviot football association, will be in charge of the English football association representative team to tour Canada and the United States this summer.

The team was managed by the F. A. team, that toured Canada in 1928 and last summer. The team will tour Australia and New Zealand. The 1928 team won all 10 of its 20 goals in the dimension, scored 100 goals against 10.

It was that year Scotland and Wales have sent representative teams to this country. The Cheviot club have Glasgow Rangers, Kilmarnock, Aberdeen, Dundee, and Charlton Athletic have also played here.

Coulter Undergoes Thigh Operation

NEW YORK, March 9.—Dr. John Hammett, New York surgeon, today operated on the injured left leg of Dickson Art Coulter, a professional football player of the New York Giants.

The operation was to remove a blood clot from the leg. Coulter is a member of the National Hockey League game which was played last night at Madison Square Garden. Coulter would see action again this season.

CHAIN SENDS GORDON TO SUB FOR LAZZERI

By HARRY GRAYSON

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 2.

—It was the St. Louis Cardinals' success in 1931 that convinced Col. Jacob Ruppert that Branch Rickey had the right idea. That season the Red Birds won their fourth National League pennant and second world championship in six years.

It was becoming increasingly difficult to obtain stars, yet the Cardinals seemed able to come up with an outstanding player whenever they required one. They had no more prospects with costly purchase because they made none. Prospects farmed out returned having more than they did when they left. They weren't pulled by minor league managers using them for their own personal power.

Ruppert decided to enter the chain business in a large way.

BUS NEWARK

His first step was buying the Newark franchise and property from Paul Block for $500,000.

Then he hired George Martin Weiss.

Weiss, a rapidly growing baseball figure, has worked wonders with the Yankees chain in six years. In his third year at its head, the former Yale man delivered the Yankees the 1927 pennant, the first organization, and furnished it badly needed pitching help in 1928.

NEW RULES ENABLE Amateurs To Enter Into Monied Game

Cecil Duncan Returns From Europe With International Sanction For Sensational Hockey Developments and Clear Cut Rulings

OTTAWA, March 9.—President Cecil Duncan of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association reached Ottawa last night from an extended visit in Europe, elated at the strong bonds linking the Ligue Internationale de Hockey Sur Glace, controlling body in Europe, and the C. A. H. A., and at the possibility of his organization sponsoring a professional circuit in Eastern Canada and one in Western Canada.

The professional circuit will be made possible with the new definition adopted by the L. I. H. G. at its annual meeting, of an amateur player. The definition reads as follows:

"Affiliated national associations may, if they so desire, include within their jurisdiction the assistance with rules of the L.I.H.G. both amateurs or professionals."

"Amateur" in this definition means a player who has not been paid for his services as a player or against professionals, under conditions stipulated by the L.I.H.G., will not lose their amateur status."

It was indicated the C. A. H. A. was at liberty to sponsor a professional circuit, the project will probably be considered, Duncan said. According to present L.I.H.G. regulations, professionals who have been in professional hockey for more than one year may be reinstated as amateurs after a one-year absence. Those who have been in professional hockey for more than five years must stay out of the game for three years before being granted amateur cards again.

INCREASED CONTROL

If the professional league project goes through, the C. A. H. A. would then be in almost direct control of the hockey situation as the association could supervise Amateur and Memorial cup competition and the L.I.H.G. could supervise the professional league.

Duncan mentioned Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, Hamilton and Toronto in one circuit, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Regina in another. Other cities might be added to the proposed league.

Made in it was indicated the C. A. H. A. was at liberty to sponsor a professional circuit, the project will probably be considered, Duncan said. According to present L.I.H.G. regulations, professionals who have been in professional hockey for more than one year may be reinstated as amateurs after a one-year absence. Those who have been in professional hockey for more than five years must stay out of the game for three years before being granted amateur cards again.
